BOARD NAMES "JAKE" DRACHA CASE WORKER

Appointment of Wilmer "Jake" Dracha, E. Middle St., as a caseworker for the Adams County Assistance Board was reported Tuesday evening at the meeting of the board in its office on Chambersburg St.

Assistance Director Mrs. Verna Myers told the board the appointment of Dracha brought the number of caseworkers to the six the board had listed as required to handle the 1,300-person caseload. Dracha, a graduate of Gettysburg College and for a number of years manager for the American Legion home here was certified February 25 by the State Civil Service Commission as a caseworker. He had been working under an "emergency" certification prior to the approval by the Civil Service Commission.

Complaints that those on relief are "receiving too much, or mismanaging their money" were discussed by the board, and after studying breakdowns of the money provided by public assistance to needy in the county the board decided that it would take "persons highly skilled as nutritionists" to more fully manage a balanced diet out of the assistance grants.

CITE EXAMPLE

As an example the board pointed to a case consisting of a disabled father, about 30, with a wife about the same age and two children, aged eight and five. The maximum allowance for the family is $158 per month based on an allowance of $79 for food, $20 for clothing, $7 for incidentals, $16 for utilities and $36 for rent. The board noted that in the case of the particular family the cheapest rent that could be found was $45 a month, and that utilities—coal, light, gas—cost "at least $25 per month." The board noted that the allowance provides 88 cents a meal for the family or 22 cents per person per meal. Noting that the clothing allowance "goes for rent and heat" the board observed that the family has been able to keep "decently clothed" by the mother's judicious purchases at rummage sales and skill in renovating and repairing the clothes.

While taking no action itself the board noted that several county boards in the state have

He is of the opinion that his home in Cumberland Township was built in 1807 and was originally a 20-ft.-square two-story log cabin, with beams seven to eight inches thick. He explained the method of restoration in detail and showed colored slides of the finished interior and exterior. He was introduced by Mrs. Emile Schmidt, program chairman.

Mrs. Chester Jarvis, president, presided at the meeting. Mrs. Dwight F. Putman, registrar, reported the addition of the name of the late Dr. Earl Bowen to the Golden Book of Memory. Mrs. Arthur L. ## Father Ends Two-Year Prison Term For Failure To Give Son To Mother; Charge Dropped CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Jack Goulding, jailed more than two years ago or refusing to surrender custody of a son to his former wife, left Franklin County Prison Tuesday night a free man.

His freedom climaxed a legal battle occupying courts in two states. At one point, the case went before U.S. District Court in Harrisburg, but a federal judge refused to assume jurisdiction.

JAILED IN CONTEMPT

Judge Chauncey Deupuy of Franklin County cited the 35-year-old Goulding for contempt of court in November, 1962, for refusing to turn over his son, Benjamin, 9, to the boy's mother, Thelma Goulding. The Gouldings are divorced.

Goulding was sent to jail and the boy resided with his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Iva Johnston, in nearby Hagerstown, Md., out of jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania court.

TELLS HOW EYE TRANSPLANT RESTORED HER LOST VISION

A Fairfield R. 1. woman who has had her vision restored through a cornea transplant appeared before the Fairfield Lions Club Tuesday evening to thank the Lions for their part in her "miracle" and to tell about her hospital experience.

Mrs. Richard Sites told the Lions: "After two years of near blindness, after living in a world of constant darkness, my restored vision is a priceless and precious gift of God."

At her most recent checkup, Mrs. Sites, who had suffered from glaucoma, was found to have 90 percent vision in the restored eye and the possibility of full vision in another month.

SURGERY DEC. 9

There is hope, too, she said that the other eye which now affords about 30 percent vision may improve with the strengthening of the eye that received the transplant.

The eye operation was arranged through the Northeast Eye Bank which is operated by Lions clubs throughout the area. She submitted to eye surgery December 9 at the Geisinger Memorial Hospital in Danville and was discharged December 23 although she was a patient there for a total of five weeks. She had been on the waiting list for a cornea transplant for six months.

The Fairfield Lions at their meeting at the Lutheran parish hall launched a drive for donations of eyes for use of the bank. The pledges will be gathered at the April 6 meeting of the club. Eyes that cannot be used in transplants will be used in research, the Lions explained. The appeal for eye pledges will be carried through the community by the Fairfield Lions.

EXPLAINS PROCEDURE

Dr. James Hammett, a member of the Lions club, explained the procedure followed in Mrs. Sites' case and in others. He spoke of the eye conservation work that has been a traditional service of Lions clubs. He said that in the eye bank operation, the "Corps of Minutemen," on call 24 hours a day, is notified at the death of a person who has offered his eyes to the bank.

An "eye basket" is sent to the local hospital and the eyes of the deceased donor are removed and transported immediately to the point where they are to be used. The eyes must be removed within three hours after death and must be used within 24 hours after that. In the case of Mrs. Sites, Dr. Hammett said he called Walter Hicks of the Northeast Eye Bank and he in turn contacted a surgeon at the Geisinger Medical Center.

NEW SCOUTMASTERS

Lions provided the "machinery and facilities" while the cost of surgery and the hospitalization was borne by the Sites

UNITED PLANS $7.5 MILLION LINE PROGRAM

United Telephone Company plans to spend approximately $7.5 million this year for plant additions, new equipment, and services, B. M. Witmer, United president, reported today. The 1965 construction program, already underway, is by far the largest in the history of the company. The estimated cost of scheduled items exceeds last year's expenditures by over three and three-quarter million dollars.

In discussing plans for the year Witmer said, "It's a big investment, but it is also necessary and important. This is the most ambitious job we have ever undertaken. We also recognize that it is a job that must be done if we are to meet the changing needs and demands of our customers and keep pace with the technological advances of the communication industry."

TELEPHONE INCREASE

The 1965 construction program, which is designed to assure continuity of communication service, is one which should reflect favorably upon the economy of the community.

During '64 telephones increased 5.3 per cent; plant investment increased 8.2 per cent and employment 6.2 per cent. It is anticipated that all these factors will be greater during 1965.

Company plans call for completion of the program begun in mid '64 of reducing the number of customers on lines serving rural areas to a maximum of six.

More Than 30 U.S. Jets Fly Mystery Strike From Da Nang Air Base To Laos

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—More than 30 U.S. Air Force jets flew a mystery strike today from Da Nang air base. It was believed they hit at Communist positions in Laos.

Officials at Da Nang, 100 miles south of the border with North Viet Nam, would not disclose the targets of the strike. American officials in Saigon said there had been no strike against North Viet Nam today, but they refused to say whether raids had been made elsewhere outside South Viet Nam.

American jets have been hitting Communist targets in Laos fairly regularly for the past few months.

HIT RED TARGETS

A high Vietnamese source at Da Nang said the strike was against Communist targets either in North Viet Nam or in Laos. He declined to say which.

He said regular attacks against Communist targets in both countries could be expected in the future.

The American F100 and F105 fighter-bombers were heavily loaded with bombs and rockets. No Vietnamese planes took part in the mission.

President Johnson said in Washington Tuesday night that six planes were shot down in Tuesday's massive air raid against Red military targets in North Viet Nam and that five of the pilots had been rescued.

RESCUE 4 YANKS

U.S. officials in Saigon said four Americans and one Vietnamese were rescued and one American pilot was still missing. A U.S. spokesman refused to say whether he was down in North Viet Nam.

Moscow radio said "one pilot bailed out in a jungle area and a search has been organized" by the North Vietnamese. The broadcast said the plane went down near Quang Khe, a North Vietnamese navy base about 60 miles north of the border and

LAUDS BROAD CURRICULUM OFFERED HERE

Nearly 400 parents of the Eighth Graders in the Gettysburg Junior High School, gathered Tuesday evening in the school auditorium for a conference with guidance counselors and administrators, heard Morris Quint, new principal of the Senior High School, say that Gettysburg High offers a broader curriculum than 90 percent of the high schools of the state and nation.

"You are quite fortunate to have this broad program offered your boys and girls," Mr. Quint said as he noted that he is "new in this system and can't be accused of bragging."

"Our math program is still growing and we are the only high school in the county that offers a language program that includes Russian, French, German, Spanish and Latin. Every student that graduates here will meet all state requirements and has the advantage of our advanced math, science and language programs in addition to our business education curriculum, the vocational agriculture and home economics and industrial arts curricula.

"WE'RE INTERESTED"

"The administration of this school is profoundly interested in your child and we have a far-seeing school board. Let us do the best job we can for your children. We have the staff and the means to do it."

TRAVEL GROUP WILL OPPOSE BILLBOARD BAN

Gettysburg Travel Council at its meeting Tuesday evening in the Lamp Post Tea Room directed its legislative committee to oppose passage of House Bill 143 designed to remove billboards entirely from the Pennsylvania highways.

Members observed: "The state and individuals are spending a fortune to attract tourists to the state — how are we going to let them know where to get off the turnpikes if there are no signs?"

However, the members agreed that the state should have "some type of zoning or regulation of signs so they could be in specific places and of sufficient quality and not clutter the landscape." Legislative Chairman Andrew Larson was asked to convey the ideas of the members to the appropriate legislators.

GET STATE MONEY

Larson presented a new constitution for the travel council increasing the number of directors to 11 and providing for staggered election of directors. There was discussion that the directors should represent different phases of the travel industry. It was decided that no workable system of that type could be set up by the constitution and it was decided to list after the names of candidates for director, the location and type of their business. The new constitution will be presented for adoption at the April meeting.

Mrs. John Adamik, office manager for the council, reported receipt of $1,800.00 from the state representing the county's share of state funds for local tourist promotion. She said an application has also been made to the state for an additional amount should there be any remainder after all of the travel promotion agencies in the state receive a share.

President William F. Richardson II reported Mayor William G. Weaver is in Washington representing the Travel Council in seeking 45 places in the Washington.

CONVICTION OF FORMER LOCAL MAN IS UPSET

The conviction of a 47-year-old former Gettysburg man on charges stemming from a 1961 attack on an eight-year-old Spring Grove girl was overturned Tuesday by Judge George W. Atkins in York County court.

Judge Atkins ruled that the defendant had not made an intelligent waiver to the right to counsel when pleading guilty in December, 1961, as required by a 1964 state Supreme Court decision.

The conviction of George S. Waddle, serving a one day to life term in the state correctional institution at Philadelphia as a result of a guilty plea to assault and battery with intent to ravish, was set aside after a hearing on Waddle's habeas corpus petition seeking release on the grounds that his constitutional right to counsel was violated when he pleaded guilty without benefit of an attorney.

MAY BE TRIED

Judge Atkins ordered Waddle held in $3,000 bail at York County jail, awaiting further proceedings in county criminal court. District Attorney Daniel W. Shoemaker said after the hearing that his office would seek to have Waddle indicted at the April grand jury session in hope of having him tried during May term of court. Tuesday's action by Judge Atkins did not nullify Waddle's arrest.

Assistant District Attorney Lewis H. Markowski, who represented the Commonwealth during the hearing, told Judge Atkins that he would appeal the decision to Pennsylvania Superior Court.

In granting Waddle's habeas corpus petition, Judge Atkins said that no evidence had been produced by the state that Waddle had made an intelligent waiver of his right to counsel.

PAPER BLURRED

Two state troopers, Nicholas J. Apollone and Andrew Marrase, who arrested Waddle on November 13, 1961, testified Tuesday that they were not sure if the former Gettysburg apple salesman had been advised of his right to counsel when they took him into custody.

Judge Atkins ruled that the waiver to the right to counsel signed by Waddle in the district attorney's office before pleading guilty was void because the content of the waiver was illegible, having been applied from a rubber stamp with an insufficient amount of ink on it. A look at the waiver signed by Waddle revealed that it was completely blurred and a reporter who saw it Tuesday could not decipher one word of it.

Among the guests were Dr. and Mrs. Paul L. Reaser, the Rev. and Mrs. John Bishop and Mr. and Mrs. John Robert. A roast beef dinner was served by the Mothers' Class.

Mrs. Clarence Weikert, president of the class, presided. The invocation was given by Miss Vestal Stallsmith, teacher of the class.

The class then joined in group singing.

Mrs. Sachs told the members and guests that the last part of the program had been given three times over the last 40 years by various groups of St. James Lutheran Church, and that a request had been made to the class to repeat "The Family Album." Mrs. Almira Pease, played by Mrs. A. A. Maust, was the narrator, and read a description of each member of her family, as they were presented to the audience in a huge picture frame album. ## WATER BASIN IS PROPOSED IN NEW OXFORD

Fred G. Klunk, president of New Oxford's borough council, proposed a water basin to solve the borough's drinking problem. He said, "the situation is too grave to pass it over."

Fred Klunk advised council Monday night to approach the Water Authority with the suggestion of a water basin adjacent to the filter plant with a capacity of 50 million gallons of water, to give the borough "something better than second hand water."

The present water plant, valued at a quarter of a million dollars, is just treating waste water from Hanover and McSherrytown and during dry seasons, the water problem is critical, Klunk said.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

Klunk's plan would call for digging a basin or reservoir and pumping water from the Coney Creek, following heavy rains when the creek has been flushed with clean water, and then pumping water through the filtering plant when it is needed.

The cost of this plan would not be prohibitive, Klunk said. The major cost would be the land, planting pine trees in the area, and digging the basin.

Mayor Guy Staub suggested using the wells at the old canning factory, presently owned by Ag-Way, which, when the plant was in operation, supplied it with almost all the water they required for the year's canning.

PROPOSE REC AREA

Borough council heard a proposal to develop a recreation area behind the sewage treatment plant on the northwest end of the borough.

Robert Poist, a council member spoke on behalf of a delegation from the Jaycees to construct a picnic and recreational area behind the sewage plant on property owned by the borough. The only cost to the borough would be to move a fence to permit a road to be built.

The Jaycees would trim the trees, clear a parking area, and build picnic tables and fireplaces and take care of the upkeep.

Council took not definite action, but will take the matter up with the water authority in the near future.

Mrs. Vesta Ling, secretary, was instructed to write to the state Highway Department for approval to erect the flashing school crossing signs at the intersection of Peters Street and Lincolnway East.

one of the raid's prime targets. A North Vietnamese army communiqué reported by the Soviet news agency Tass said nine American and South Vietnamese planes were shot down Tuesday.

HIT MUNITIONS DEPOT

More than 160 land-based U.S. and Vietnamese planes attacked Quang Khe and a munitions depot at Xom Bang, 15 miles north of the border.

Planes of the U.S. 7th Fleet did not participate in the raid, but took part in the protection and recovery of several of the downed fliers.

Seven Navy propeller-driven Skyraider fighter-bombers from a U.S. aircraft carrier buzzed a line of North Vietnamese boats near one downed American flier, Lt. James A. Cullen, 28, of Winchester, Mass., until an amphibious plane landed and rescued him.

South Viet Nam said three unidentified planes made a "timid attempt" to intercept Vietnamese fighter-bombers returning from the raid but were scared off.

The official Viet Nam Press Agency said its pilots spotted the three strange planes coming from the east, "obviously intending to head off the Skyraiders." It quoted the Air Force Command as saying the larger number of South Vietnamese planes "apparently frightened them away."

No Communist air activity has been reported during any of the previous American or South Vietnamese air strikes against the Communist north.

North Viet Nam's air force is outdated and small. But the U.S. Defense Department has said MIG jet fighters manned by Red Chinese pilots are now based in North Viet Nam.

The loss of six planes was the heaviest yet in the raids on North Viet Nam.

STORY OF SILK

Because of the widespread interest in silk production throughout the country, a state society was organized and in February, 1839, three Adams Countyans attended a meeting in Harrisburg and were named to a committee "appointed for the purpose of ascertaining the proper owners and holders of the genuine morus multicaulis and cause." They were Dr. D. Gilbert, T. C. Miller and J. H. Marsden.

The county society's constitution provided that its purpose was to promote the production of silk in the county. It established dues of 50 cents a year and provided for an auxiliary to the Pennsylvania society.

The society established 12 reasons "why the inhabitants of this county and especially the farmers should turn their attention to the production of silk": These included the statement "that the soil and climate of this county are well adapted and that the crop is as certain as any other." The resolutions claimed that silk could be produced by ordinary members of a family "to the value of several hundred dollars" since silk was selling for $6 a pound, "can be taken to market at as little expense as a pound of flour worth four cents. It also stressed the short production season, "six weeks as compared with six months for other crops," and "most of the labor can be performed by children." It encouraged the propagation of Chinese mulberry "the leaves of which may be used for worm-feeding in two months after the bud is planted." The society was influenced by the country's importation of some $20,000,000 annually of foreign silk, and the act that many silk mills had sprung up in the U.S. and needed raw silk.

SILK PLANT HERE
Due to labor trouble at Shamokin, Pa., the J. H. and C. K. Eagle Company during 1919 acquired properties in Gettysburg, Mechanicsburg and Bellefonte, and erected throwing plants in each place. The office, storage rooms and one-half the present building were erected in 1919. During 1921 it was enlarged. A large storage building was erected. In the late 1940s the original building was erected by Shamokin Lumber and Construction Company processed at the plant. The majority of silk is Japanese, with a small amount from Korea. Previously a small amount was received from Russia, Italy and China.

Silk is received in skeins, each skein weighing about 1/2

During 1938 the present plant was acquired through the RFC and the name was changed to Gettysburg Throwing Company. Robert Berkheimer of Gettysburg and Fred Maue of Shamokin became partners. Today there are 48 winding machines, 335 5-13's, 180 spinners, 16 re-draws, 40 comers and 32 peelers.

There are approximately 200 yearly employees, who process about 300,000 pounds, with an average return of $1.20 per pound and a yearly payroll of approximately $300,000. About 25 throwing plants remain in the east, the majority in Pennsylvania.

Joseph Kendeheart showed slides of the silk industry. About 60 attended the meeting with President George Olinger presided. The treasurer's report showed a current balance of $721. It was announced a DAR meeting will be held in the society rooms Friday. There was a display of toys to be placed in the museum's toy room and a number of acquisitions for the society were listed. There was a copy of Volume 2 of the seminary history by Dr. A. R. Wentz, a copy of World News in 1964 from The Gettysburg Times, a copy of Dr. S. K. Stevens' book, "Pennsylvania, Birthplace of a Nation," a history of the city of Pittsburgh, copies of old Adams County newspapers and Gettysburg College Spectrums.

NINE AWARDS GIVEN CUBBER

Robert Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scott, Main St., Fairfield, set a new record for Cub Pack 76 of Fairfield, and possibly for the area, when he was presented with seven silver arrows, the Wolf badge and a gold arrow at the Blue and Gold banquet held by the pack last Thursday at the Fairfield fire hall.

New Cubmaster Richard Orner told the 55 present that he had to search the Scout rules to see if one boy could be given so many silver arrows at one time, and found that the rules stated, "if the boy did the work he should get the reward." He praised the youth for his "ambitious approach to Cub Scouting."

Another member of the pack, Gregory McGlaughlin, received the gold arrow under the Bear badge.

Committee Chairman Robert Gilmore introduced Cubmaster Orner and the two then served as masters of ceremonies for the program. By vote of the group, Institutional Representative Raymond Miller was asked to convey to the Fairfield Amvets the appreciation of the Cub Scouts and their parents for the Amvets help in sponsoring the unit.

Louise Pratt and Sarah Wathem were introduced as new den mothers. Mrs. Richard Orner was praised for providing a blue and gold cake for the affair. Kermit Spence was introduced as neighborhood commissioner.

Plans for the Scout Show to be held by the Black Walnut District March 12 and 13 at the Hotel Gettysburg pressroom were outlined. Paul Crist showed slides of a trip to Europe.

For processing it is treated with oil and gelatin, soap and water softeners and then soaked about 12 hours, after which it is dried and then is ready for winding. From the winders, it is taken to the 5-bee's, then to the spinners, and then to the redraws. The spinning process is varied for various type yarns. Rayon, nylon and metallic fibers are also processed.

STILL IN OPERATION

During 1938 the present plant was acquired through the RFC and the name was changed to Gettysburg Throwing Company. Robert Berkheimer of Gettysburg and Fred Maue of Shamokin became partners. Today there are 48 winding machines, 335 5-13's, 180 spinners, 16 re-draws, 40 comers and 32 peelers.

There are approximately 200 yearly employees, who process about 300,000 pounds, with an average return of $1.20 per pound and a yearly payroll of approximately $300,000. About 25 throwing plants remain in the east, the majority in Pennsylvania.

Joseph Kendeheart showed slides of the silk industry. About 60 attended the meeting with President George Olinger presided. The treasurer's report showed a current balance of $721. It was announced a DAR meeting will be held in the society rooms Friday. There was a display of toys to be placed in the museum's toy room and a number of acquisitions for the society were listed. There was a copy of Volume 2 of the seminary history by Dr. A. R. Wentz, a copy of World News in 1964 from The Gettysburg Times, a copy of Dr. S. K. Stevens' book, "Pennsylvania, Birthplace of a Nation," a history of the city of Pittsburgh, copies of old Adams County newspapers and Gettysburg College Spectrums.

TOLD TO GET BOY

In January, Judge Deputy released Goulding on $5,000 bail and ordered him to go to Hanover and get the boy.

Mrs. Johnston met her son at the door of her home and told him:

"I'm sorry, I can't give you Benny."

"Mother, do you know what this means?" asked Goulding. Mrs. Johnston held up a small American flag.

"Jack, do you know what this is? What this stands for? This flag stands for things you have been denied . . ."

The only other time Goulding left prison, except for his court appearances, was in the middle of 1963 when he was hospitalized for a back ailment.

COUNCIL VOTES TO LET FIREMEN USE CREAMERY

The York Springs Borough council Tuesday evening adopted a resolution to lease the creamery building to the fire company on a long-term basis subject to reservations.

Attorney Ronald Hagarman stated he will be prepared at the next meeting to give legal aspect of the lease and asked the fire company committee to prepare a plan for renovations and terms of the lease.

Council formerly adopted the budget for 1965 with the tax rate of 17 mills. It calls for $250 for road improvements and $700 for tar or bituminous surface treatment, with a total operation and maintenance for highways of $2,180. Total estimated receipts and cash should be $8,153.46 and total estimated expenditures will be $5,808.

The water budget allows $600 for water purification and $1,040 for pump, with a total operation and maintenance of $3,340 and total estimated expenditures of $5,440.

WILL INSTALL PUMP

The deep well pump and a 3,000-gallon pressure tank purchased have arrived and will be installed as soon as possible.

Engineer William Seese asked council for a work schedule of the installation of the equipment at the creamery at the request of Department of Health. He indicated the job could be completed in 15 days of work.

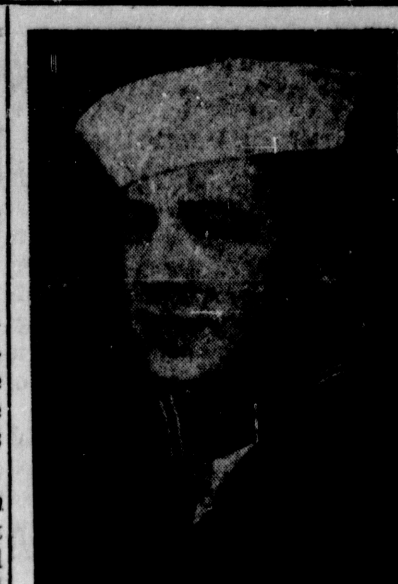

Council requests that residents refrain from parking their cars on the sidewalks or action will be taken to correct the matter.

PAY BILLS

Bills from the general account were approved for payment in the amount of $146.78. An expenditure of $11.53 was reported for opening the lock box, after the key was lost. Water rent receipts were $1,263.57. Bills in the water account totaled $4,972.75, including the cost of pressure tank and turbine pump. Secretary Lynn Smith reported that he sent several notices to residents to cut off the water service if bills are not paid by Saturday. Council also instructed the treasurer to transfer $3,500 from the savings account to the water fund to take care of the equipment installation.

President Wendell Lehman presided at the meeting which was attended by five councilmen. Eight firemen represented the fire company.

Dane E. Kennell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Kennell, Gettysburg R. 2, is attending the Navy Air Ordnance School at Jacksonville, Fla., for 18 weeks. Navy October 12 and underwent basic training at San Diego, Calif., before being assigned to the school at Jacksonville. His address is Dane E. Saturday night the similar program for members under age 14 residing north of Route 30 will be held at the Bermudian Springs High School cafeteria, also from 7:30 to 9:30.

March 20 the fun night for 4-H members 14 years old and over will be held in the all-purpose room in the York Springs Elementary School from 7:30 to 11 o'clock. The program for the older 4-H members will include square dancing, a talent show and a hootenanny. Those planning to present an act in the talent show are to contact Mary Miller, New Oxford R. 2.

ton area to place Gettysburg literature. PLAN 20 BILLBOARDS
Kenneth Dick reported plans for placing 20 billboards in the Washington area by members of Travel Council. The billboards will be standard in design. One half will urge "Visit Historic Gettysburg," the other half will promote the particular enterprise of the business establishment paying for the billboard. "As a result we will have 20 billboards in the Washington area without any cost to the Travel Council—each of the sponsoring members will pay for his own."

Dick also announced a meeting this morning at his home of those planning to participate in group advertising in a number of newspapers of the area.

Volunteers were asked to serve at the Gettysburg Travel Council booth at the Cleveland Travel Show March 19 to 28. Mr. and Mrs. Curvin Heiss will be there in costume with the Travel Council paying their expenses. Mrs. Adamik is also scheduled to be at the booth at various times.

WORLEY BILL PASSED

President Richardson reported $250 has been donated toward the GAR-affiliated organizations' state convention to be held here in June. He said up to $300 is to be spent this year on signs for the proposed "Scenic Tour" of Adams County.

Richardson reported the state House of Representatives passed the bill introduced by Assemblyman Francis Worley permitting boroughs to provide up to 10 cents per resident for tourist promotion. The bill now goes to the Senate. Richardson noted the county by law could give up to $5,200 per year for tourist-promotion and urged members to "talk to the commissioners."

HEAR SPEAKER

It was announced that the next South Central Pennsylvania Pennsylvania Travel Council meeting will be held at the Cocoa Inn in Hershey next Tuesday.

Fred Workman of the Chicago Tribune's New York bureau spoke on "Tourism and the Middle West." He showed studies made for the Tribune which showed 3,760,500 persons in the Chicago area annually make trips of 200 miles or more. He displayed the travel section of the Tribune and said surveys made of the people in the Chicago area showed 70 percent of them received their information about travel from that section.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

John P. Butt, Esq., who ended a 16-year term as district attorney of Adams County at the beginning of this year, is the first candidate in the field for democratic nomination for representative in the general assembly from Adams County. The former district attorney, who is county democratic chairman, and who served for nearly a year as budget secretary under former Governor George H. Earle, has continued the private practice of law in his Baltimore street office since retiring from office as state's attorney.

A freak pig with two noses, an unusually broad head and two brains was born in a litter of 14 Chester Whites at the battlefield farm buildings at the east end of East Middle street last Friday. Elmer Wisler, tenant on the farm, said the pig died Sunday evening. Other pigs in the litter were apparently normal.

Leap Year Day Baby:
A son was born Thursday morning, Feb. 29th, in a Harrisburg hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Littleton, Gettysburg. The baby weighed 8 lbs. and 8 ounces at birth. Mrs. Littleton is the former Rose Smith, Gettysburg, and is proprietor of the Rose-Ann Shop on Baltimore Street.

C. A. Timmins, 26 Chambersburg Street, opened the Timmins Electric Service at 131 Chambersburg street Friday, with a special sale on Saturday. An electrician for 43 years, most of which were spent in Gettysburg, Mr. Timmins was in charge of electrical work at the main capitol and North Office building at Harrisburg for the last four years.

A building permit has been issued by Burgess C. A. Heiges to Radford Lippy for the erection of a three-story brick addition and the remodeling of his Chambersburg street property. The addition will measure 26 x 60 feet. Work is scheduled to begin next week. Luther I. Sachs will do both the remodeling and the new construction.

An eighth grade girl from the Lincoln School building won a public spelling bee which was conducted Friday evening at the YWCA by the Annie Danner club. The last person she "spelled down" was her father, who took second prize. The winner was Miss Gladys Smith, whose spelling record at school shows nothing but "100 percents." Runner-up was her father, Luther Smith, Hanover street. Third best speller was Miss Martha Lentz. Miss Gertrude Little, a member of the Gettysburg high school faculty, pronounced the words and the audience served as judges.

HOLD ROHRBAUGH SERVICES
Funeral services for E. Clayton Rohrbach, 76, 32 Lumber St., Littlestown, a retired carpenter, who died on Sunday in the Warner Hospital, were conducted this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from Little's Funeral Home, Littlestown. The Rev. John C. Chalos, pastor of St. James' United Church of Christ, along the Harney Rd., officiated. Interment was in the church cemetery. Pallbearers were Verley J. Clouser, Lloyd E. Crouse, Harry O. Harner, James Smith, Ralph DaHoff and Harry W. Padders.

You can make a delightful iced-tea beverage by adding sugar and lemon plus a suspicion of brandy or rum.

Today's Talk

THAT INWARD URGE

We are each born into a world of projects and wonder. Endless generations have contributed to us in one way and another. Urges sprout out, like the roots of a tree, seeking nourishment and substance with which to support the one great urge of one's heart.

It is highly important that none of us neglects these urges, especially the ones that promise happiness and which build the fires of incentive and enthusiasm within us.

I had a friend who was born with an artistic urge. He wanted most of all to be an artist and thus to express himself, but his father considered this foolish and a waste of life. He insisted that he go to college and become a lawyer, which the boy resented. He went to college, but paid little attention to his studies. He wanted to draw, and draw he did! But so strong was the father's resentment that he refused further to aid that boy, and created a hatred that the boy never got over. He left college and continued to draw until he became a famous cartoonist — and was happy.

I had another friend, whose father resented his son's desire to be a musician. He wanted to play a violin and so saved his money and got one. The father discovered this and took it away from him. He bought some tools and told him to get busy with them, but he would not be thwarted — that boy. He, too, became a famous cartoonist for a big newspaper, but with money coming in he bought another violin, and thereafter played it to soothe his soul. He was once my guest for a few days, at my summer camp, and played his instrument to the tune of the stars, and the wash of the waves.

Natural wants and urges should never be neglected. They are the guidesposts to our success and happiness. Wealthy souls are all too rare in this world. God's voice and encouragement are always near to that one whose freedom of choice has been given a clear road ahead. It is even more profitable to aim at something you want, and miss it, than to aim at something you don't want — and get it!

RIGHT AND WRONG
Is right and wrong clearly shown, and what will follow could be known. Then anyone in health could lead. The future anyone could read.

But it has been what seemed mishap. Has often led to fortune's lap, and what has seemed the best at first, has proved in time to be the worst.

'Tis plain that all are born to grope. Twixt good and ill and cling to hope. Within our light to do our best, And leave to God and Time the rest.

In vain to whine in discontent. When harmful proves the good we meant, Do what seems best to mortal sight, God knows we can't always be right.

Strouse Swishes 35 But Bullets Go Down Before Elizabethtown Cagers

A brilliant scoring performance by Senior George Strouse was about the only consolation the Gettysburg College basketball team got out of its trip to Elizabethtown as the Blue Jays topped the Bullets 82-70 Tuesday evening before a large crowd. The contest was originally scheduled for last Saturday, but due to Elizabethtown's unsuccessful participation in the MAC college division playoffs, the game was re-set for Tuesday.

Strouse turned in the finest single game performance of his career as he poured through 35 points in a one man show, accounting for exactly one half of his team's total points. The Norwich, Conn., native became the fourth highest scoring cager in the history of Gettysburg College when he dumped his 1,069th point with 4:43 to go in the first half. He bettered the fourth place mark of 1,068 set by Del Warfel. Strouse now needs only 53 points in the last two encounters to catch third ranked Bill "Bones" Snyder who tallied 1,147 points between 1952 and 1955.

ALL-AROUND ACE

Strouse landed 11 of 14 shots from the field in the second half against the Jays and in the first half accounted for six of the Bullets' 17 rebounds. He finished the contest with 15 of 22 field shots, five of six fouls for 35 tallies and seven rebounds.

Strouse scored the first four points of the ball game to give Gettysburg an early lead. Then at the 18:34 mark Larry Wyles landed a free throw and Lynn Sutton and Larry Evans followed with corner shots to throw the Jays into a 5-4 lead. The Bullets made it 10-5 behind Jim Ruck, Dave Yates and Chris Sirms in what looked like the beginning of a land slide. After Evans hit on a foul and Strouse connected from the key, Elizabethtown closed the gap at 12-11 with 6:39. Dan Reitmeyer leading the way.

Chuck Richardson hit from the corner and Evans tied the game at 14-14 with three points at the 12:32 mark. After Yates scored from the key at 11:38, Evans came back to tie the game for the last time at 11:22. With 11:14 to go in the half, Evans ripped the cords from the left side to put the home club in a lead it never lost. Elizabethtown increased its margin to 41-29 by the end of the first half.

FALL FAR BEHIND

The Blue Jays led by as much as 18 points, 64-46, with 8:57 to go in the game. The Bullets displayed a slight spark of hope as they bounced back with nine straight points to make it 64-55 with 6:29 remaining. However, the large Blue Jay lead was too much to overcome and Elizabethtown had its 19th win in 22 decisions.

Coach Ted Roscher, in his first season at Elizabethtown, went the entire game with his five starters. All turned in a balanced attack with Evans scoring 27 points, Reitmeyer 22, Wyles 16, Hollingshead 12 and Sutton five. Reitmeyer was the game's top rebounder with nine.

The Gettysburg freshmen suffered their seventh setback compared to nine wins as the Elizabethtown jayvees copped a thrilling 56-54 decision in the preliminary contest. Dick Falk was top performer for the Little Bullets with 19 points and 10 rebounds. Lee Neiferd paced the Little Jays with 18 tallies.

The Gettysburg Junior High basketball team topped the Faculty 49-48 in a thriller Tuesday afternoon before a large crowd.

With less than 15 seconds of play remaining Mike Varian caged the first of two free throws with "Butch" Alberts capturing the rebound after the missed toss and scoring for the winning points. As the game ended a Faculty player missed two free throws.

The game was a seesaw affair all the way with the Faculty leading 26-24 at half time.

3 All-America Teams Chosen

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1965 college basketball All-America as selected by The Associated Press on the basis of votes from 216 sports writers and broadcasters.

Bill Bradley, Princeton, 6-foot-5, senior, hometown, Crystal City, Mo., who has led Princeton to three straight Ivy League titles while setting all-time Ivy records galore, won by a whopping 116-30 margin over Cazzie Russell of Michigan in voting by 216 sports writers and broadcasters.

Bradley and Russell also were one-two in the separate balloting for the 1965 All-America, announced by The AP Tuesday. This balloting was much closer with Bradley getting 993 points on 197 firsts and four seconds. Russell tallied 964 points on 186 firsts and 17 seconds.

OTHERS CHOSEN

Five points were given for a first-team vote in the All-America voting and two points for a second-team nod, while just single votes counted in the player-of-the-year tally.

Named to the All-America first team, along with Bradley and Russell were Rick Barry, the nation's individual scoring champion from the Miami, Fla., Hurricanes; Gail Goodrich of UCLA's defending national champions; Fred Hetzel of Davidson and the late Wayne Estes of Utah State.

Estes was named to the All-America posthumously. He died Feb. 8 when he accidentally came in contact with a high-voltage wire.

HETZEL THIRD

Hetzel, who led Davidson to 23 straight victories before West Virginia upset the Wildcats in last week's Southern Conference championship tournament, was third in the player-of-the-year balloting with 12 votes.

Rounding out the top 10 were Barry with seven votes; Goodrich and Estes five each; Clyde Lee of Vanderbilt, A.W. Davis of Tennessee and Dave Stallworth of Wichita, three each; and Skip Thoren of Illinois, two.

Henry Finkel of Dayton, Billy Cunningham of North Carolina, Willie Somerset of Duquesne, Flynn Robinson of Wyoming, Steve Vacendak of Duke and Oliver Darden of Michigan received one vote each.

Indiana's head football coach, Phil Dickens, resigned in December and was succeeded in January by John Pont, former head coach at Yale.

HAS GOOD RECORD
McCracken said he was not resigning because of ill health or pressure but wanted to get out of coaching before his health became affected.

He holds a full professorship in the school of health, physical education and recreation and said he will remain with the university.

McCracken's record for 24 seasons at Indiana, with two games to go, is 362 victories and 174 defeats. His Hoosier teams have a 208-116 record in the Big Ten and hold a winning margin over each of the other schools. They have won three conference championships and tied for another.

He is the only Big Ten coach with two NCAA championships, won in 1940 and 1953.

The Hoosiers started this season with nine straight preconference victories but lost their Big Ten opener to Illinois and now stand 17-5 for the season and 7-5 in the Big Ten.

CRIPPLED 76ERS LOSE 2 GAMES

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Philadelphia 76ers may back into the National Basketball Association playoffs unless their backcourt gets healthy in a hurry.

Philadelphia suffered its fourth straight setback Tuesday night, bowing to Los Angeles 126-117 in the opener of a doubleheader at New York. But the Knickerbockers' 99-98 loss to St. Louis in the second game left the 76ers one step away from clinching an Eastern Division playoff spot.

Cincinnati bombed San Francisco 121-105 in the other game scheduled.

One more Philadelphia victory — or New York defeat — will eliminate the fourth-place Knicks from contention. But the 76ers, crippled by injuries to Hal Greer and Larry Costello, have dropped eight of their last 10 and Coach Dolph Schayes is concerned.

ASK FOR NEW RACE SETUP

HARRISBURG (AP) — Legislation aimed at creating another pari-mutuel harness racing operation in Pennsylvania was back in committee today, its fate uncertain.

The bill was recommitted Tuesday to the House Ways and Means Committee by one of its sponsors, Rep. Robert E. Belomoni, D-Erie.

The measure apparently is designed to give Erie County voters another chance to accept pari-mutuel harness racing in a referendum. They turned it down the first time.

Most observers felt that the bill may be expanded or combined with another bill extending the number of days for racing from 50 to 75.

Under provisions of the measure, a fifth track would be authorized 100 miles or more away from any existing track.

BREAKS RECORD

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Paul Wilson of Warren High School shattered his national prep pole vault record Tuesday when he soared 16 feet 4 1/2 inches.

The high school senior made the record leap in his first attempt, after becoming the first prep schooler to make the 16-foot mark last year. Three attempts at 16-9 failed.

WOLVERINES ASSURED OF AT LEAST TIE

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dave Strack and Joe Mullaney, the basketball coaches at Michigan and Providence, respectively, enjoyed a nice Tuesday evening. It was different for Babe McCarthy, coach at Mississippi State, and for Branch McCracken, coach at Indiana.

Strack, observing his 42nd birthday, got a present of a 98-75 victory over Wisconsin from his nationally No. 1 ranked Wolverines, a triumph that cinched at least a tie for the Big Ten championship.

The 40-year-old Mullaney hit the 200-victory milestone of his career as his Friars, fourth-ranked in The Associated Press Poll, walloped Massachusetts 102-75.

INDIANA COACH QUILTS

In contrast, the veteran 57-year-old McCracken, coach at Indiana for 24 years, resigned effective at the end of the season. McCarthy, 41, also resigned, ending a 10-year tenure at Mississippi State.

Indiana has a 17-5 record with two games left. Mississippi State ended its season last Saturday with a 10-16 mark.

Cazzie Russell and Bill Buntin paced Michigan with 24 and 20 points, respectively, at Ann Arbor as the Wolverines won their 12th straight and upped their over-all mark to 20-2.

GOPHERS STAY ALIVE

Michigan now can win the Big Ten crown outright by defeating Minnesota Saturday. The Gophers stayed alive Tuesday by beating Iowa on the road 78-70 behind Lou Hudson's 20 points. Michigan is 12-0 in conference play and Minnesota, sixth-ranked in the AP poll, is 10-2.

Jim Walker and Dexter Westbrook each flipped in 21 points for Providence as the once-beaten Friars closed out their home season with a 21-1 record. The Friars play at Brown Friday before taking on West Virginia in the first round of the NCAA tournament at Philadelphia Monday.

Texas A&M upset Southern Methodist with a home court 94-81 victory and enabled the Texas Longhorns to tie SMU for second place in the Southwest Conference. Texas, playing at

FRANK THOMAS NOT GIVING UP AT FIRST BASE

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baseball's annual spring fling is two days old and, so far, from is holding up in the far-flung training camps.

It rained in Florida Tuesday. Arizona was frigid. Half a dozen players couldn't get out of Latin America. The big question seemed to be "Who's on first?" and one answer was:

"I'm not conceding him a thing. All I want is an equal opportunity..."

THOMAS NOT QUITTING

Frank Thomas issued the challenge to newcomer Dick Stuart at Philadelphia's Clearwater, Fla., base after extolling Stuart's virtues as a hitter and — despite his reputation — glove man.

Stuart, acquired from Boston in a winter deal, is an all-round fine fellow who will help the Phillies win the National League pennant this time out, said Thomas, but the big slugger was not going to take his job away without a fight.

Stuart, meanwhile, was busy trying to make peace with Dennis Bennett, the young pitcher whom the Phils sent to Boston in the trade. Bennett is unhappy about Stuart's remarks that the Red Sox were cheated in the deal and that he probably paid more income tax money last year than Bennett drew in salary.

"SAID AS JOKE"

"The whole thing has been magnified and distorted," Stuart said. "A lot of what I said was said as a joke, but the writer took me seriously."

First base also was the focal point at Miami and Pompano Beach, Fla., where Baltimore and Washington, respectively, hold forth.

Big Boog Powell, who hit 39 home runs for the Orioles last year as an outfielder, worked at first base, where Manager Hank Bauer plans to give him an extensive trial. Senators' pilot Gil Hodges drilled four aspirants — Bob Chance, Roy Sievers, Dick Nen and incumbent Joe Cunningham — at the bag.

CLEMENTE IN HOSPITAL

The Pittsburgh Pirates disclosed that NL batting champion Roberto Clemente is hospitalized with malaria in Puerto Rico and will be unavailable for at least three weeks.

home, defeated Texas Christian 84-63.

DECISIONS NEAR

The runner-up team in the SWC will go to the NCAA tournament since Texas Tech declared itself out of tournament consideration last week because of an ineligible player.

Thursday's Arkansas at SMU and Texas at Baylor games probably will decide the SWC NCAA representative. SMU and Texas each are 9-4 in league play with Baylor right behind at 8-5. Baylor defeated Rice 79-72 Tuesday.

Detroit, bound for the NIT in New York, defeated Marquette 90-76 at Milwaukee. In other games, Illinois downed Northwestern 93-70 at Evanston, Bradley crushed North Texas 102-77 at Peoria and Missouri whipped Nebraska 84-66 at Columbia, Mo.

Twelve Gettysburg College swimmers have been entered in the 1965 Middle Atlantic Conference swimming and diving championships at Elizabethtown College Friday and Saturday, it was announced today by Head Coach Curt Coull.

The tankmen, who started the season in a blaze but finished with a dunking, hope to improve upon last year's sixth place finish in the university division. Gettysburg sailed through the regular campaign with a 6-8 record including a last place in the Little Three meet at Dickinson.

Coull will be counting on Craig Van Tatenhove, Rudy Soocy, Pete Wilson and Don Gregg to carry the brunt of the point production. Van Tatenhove, a 6'2" Senior from North Caldwell, N.J., has done an outstanding job in both the freestyle sprints and distances. He will take part in the 200 and 500-yard events. Wilson is a Senior freestyle sprinter from White Plains, N.Y., who holds the school record in both the 50 and 100-yard events.

SEEKS DIVING TITLE

Soocy, who has served as tri-captain with Van Tatenhove and Wilson, is expected to place high in the diving. The Trenton, N.J., native won the MAC Freshman diving three years ago and has since finished near the top twice, but has never been able to place first. Gregg will take part in both the 200 and 100-yard butterfly. Last year Gregg placed in the 200-yard event but failed to qualify in the 100.

The Bullets could come up with a couple of surprise entries. Sophomore Norm Tinanoff, Baltimore, has come on strong in the backstroke and may add to the point column. Senior Avery Gentile, Ithaca, N.Y., will give the Bullets a boost in the 200-yard individual medley as well as help the backstroke. Gordie Rowe, East Aurora, N.Y., could be another strong performer in the butterfly or the individual medley. He is nursing a back injury which may keep him out of this year's meet.

Once again Bucknell is expected to successfully defend its crown. However, second place could be a toss-up with any one of the remaining six university division teams copping the runner-up spot.

TOP GOLFERS IN FIRST MEET

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player try for their first victories of the 1965 professional golfers tour starting today with the pro-am warmup for the $85,000 Pensacola Open.

They will meet for the first time this year in the pro-am and all need the practice. Neither of the Big Three has won a tournament this year. They are not even in the top 25 money winners.

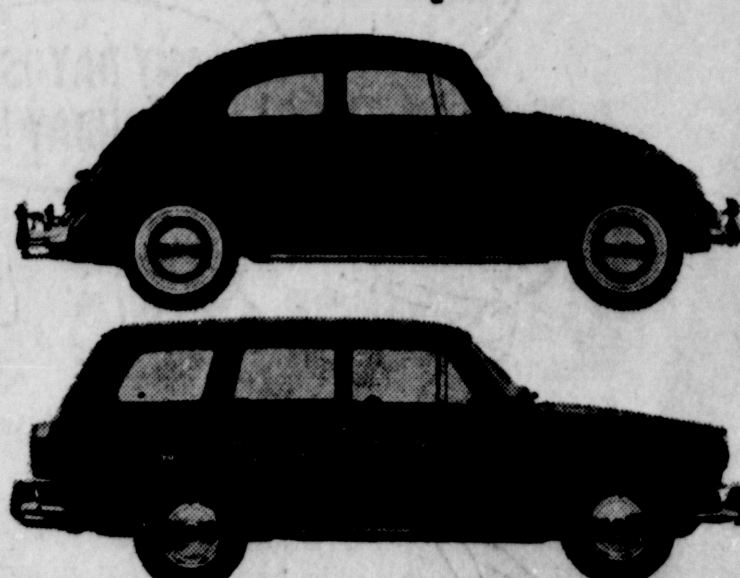

Player hasn't played so far, but Palmer and Nicklaus have no excuses.

A field of 52 pros will tee off Thursday in the 72-hole tournament over the 6,142-yard, par-72 Pensacola Country Club course. The pro-am today was worth $3,000 in cash and prizes.

Ken Venturi, last year's U.S. Open winner, rejoins the tour after being out since Jan. 28 with an inflammation of the arteries which caused a numbness in his hands.

Note to new cooks: To "dredge" a food means to coat it with such a dry ingredient as flour or sugar.

Play Most Shots Off Left Heel To Attain A Grooved Swing

By KEN VENTURI
U.S. Open Champion

What I'm going to emphasize today applies to practically all shots, whether they be from the tee or the fairway, and whether you are trying a long iron or a pitching club. And that is — PROPER POSITION OF THE BALL, the greater amount of the time.

With one exception, I always play the ball in the same position. That one occurs when I'm playing into the wind and want the ball to stay low for greater distance.

My theory is that everyone must try to groove a swing. And to groove a swing you must hit the ball from the same position every time.

There was an old theory that you should play the No. 2 iron opposite the inside of the left heel and then gradually change the ball's position toward the rear foot as you use shorter clubs. This means that when you used a 9 iron the ball would be played opposite the inside of the right heel.

Now, isn't that silly? That gave you nine different arcs and nine different swings.

This is one reason why today's pro golfers as a whole are so much better than those of 25 to 30 years ago. We have learned to disregard previous misconceptions. I found much of this to be true when my teacher, Byron Nelson, took my game apart and put it together again in the fall of 1955 after I returned from two years in the Army.

I advise playing all shots from off the inside of the left heel so that the ball can be hit with the downswing. The club "goes through" the ball longer this way. And on my follow through I'm in a perfect position to walk away from the shot.

Don't change your arc. Don't change the tempo of your swing. Don't try to powder-keg the ball. The clubhead will do the work without muscle. Get that grooved one-piece swing and you will see how simple this game of golf really is.

When you play an 8 or 9 iron off the inside of your left heel you get more spin on the ball

HOW TO GROOVE YOUR SWING

Positioning the ball opposite the inside of your left heel on practically all shots will help you attain a grooved swing. The grooved swing is a must to play good golf. Notice Ken Venturi's tee shot position (1) and his short iron stance (2). Because the iron is shorter than the driver he bends his waist to reach the ball. But his swing will be the same. And so will his left arm, which forms a straight line from his shoulder to the ball.

than if you were to play it the old way, opposite the inside of your right heel. This is because, by playing the ball forward, the grooved swing and greater arc put more nip or bite on the ball.

Now about hitting the ball low into the wind. This shot should be played about the center of the stance with the hands a little ahead of the clubhead instead of directly over or back of the ball. And the stance should be slightly open.

The left arm forms a straight line from your shoulder to the ball. This position automatically places the hands ahead of the clubhead. The weight is planted very firmly on the left foot, and the balance of weight stays on this foot throughout the swing. This aids in being upright. Be sure to keep a very firm grip to prevent any possible turning of the clubhead at impact. How firm do you hold the club? Well, a fencing master once described it best when he told how he held the epee. He said: "It's like holding a little bird. If you hold it too tight you will crush it. If you hold it too loose it will fly away." So you hold the club firm enough to have control of it. In playing this long, low shot,

AFRICAN ART LEADS PUCCI TO NEW STYLES

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
The Associated Press

"Dark continent? Elegance was born there," said former Hollywood glamor girl and fashion model Marion Mills Preminger when she returned from many years of service to Dr. Albert Schweitzer, famous humanitarian of the African jungles.

As if she had asked somebody to prove it, noble Italian designer Emilio Pucci brightened up the Pitti Palace in Florence considerably recently with so-called dark continent fashions.

Beautiful Negro models wrapped in wild printed silk burnouses flung away their garments to display gorgeous architecture in white bikinis. Witch doctor wigs in spiny raffia were the headgear for Pucci's fashion safari, and masks were identifiable in his vivid, whirling, kaleidoscopic prints.

MADE STRETCH PANTS

Pucci is the marquis who struggles with torrid Italian politics regularly in the hope of winning a seat in the governing body. He is the man who put women in tight stretch pants at home, on the patio and even at parties and he is the same fellow who predicted topless bathing suits within 10 years and then ignored the whole barren bit when designer Rudi Gernreich brought one out as if he never breathed of such a scandalous thing.

Now he is again the man of the fashion hour by simply being in tune with the times, by forgetting the roaring 20s and sexy 30s and by emerging with the emerging nations.

"Our trouble as whites," said the former wife of Otto Preminger in her memoirs, "is that we judge every civilization by our own standards."

FASHION SCENES

So the titled Europeans and the swinging international jet set took a fresh new look at the African inspirations by Pucci on the palace runway and bowed low to the colorful fashion artists of the jungle.

Witches' masks funny? So are women's hats originating in Paris and New York. Jewelry primitive? Have you seen those things bobbing on women's ears these days? Prints gaudy? Well, it's about time. That's the new reaction. Several American designers, many of them Negro, have already borrowed from African culture. But Pucci is the first big name to do so, and when he puts his famous signature on a style trend, as with Coco Chanel, it's in.

Here again I must remind you of the slight pause at the top of the backswing. This pause applies both to fast and to slow swingers because nobody starts a downswing until he completes his backswing. The pause is a must because it helps create tempo.

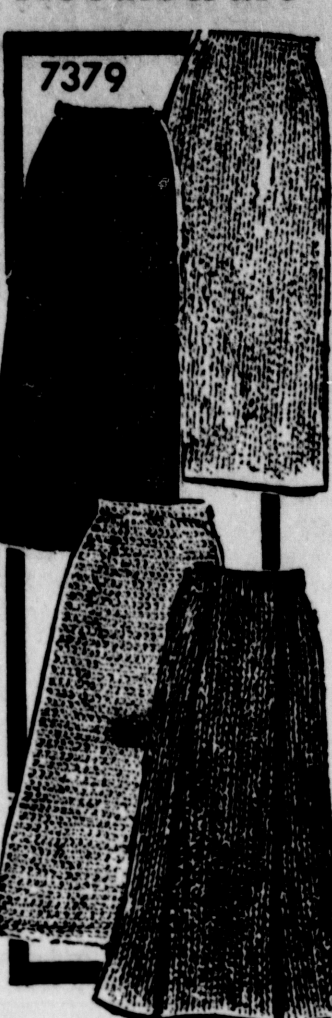

Now the slight pause at the top is not too pronounced. If your timing and tempo are proper the pause takes place by itself.

The automatic pause actually comes between the time you begin your move up and when you put the heel of your left hand and the heel of your left foot down.

So if you swing in the proper sequence as I have outlined it, you will find the pause is a second nature thing.

DAGGA MARKET SOARS AS LAW LOSES BATTLE

By JOHN MacLENNAN

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Most of South Africa's Twilight Kids have branded themselves with the mark of tragedy. It's a tattoo on the cheek or hand which identifies them as traffickers in dagga.

Dagga (Indian hemp, known as marijuana in the Americas) is a fast-growing thorn in the flesh of this country's social workers and police. About 18,000 people are prosecuted every year for growing, selling or smoking dagga. And the law is losing the battle. Fifteen years ago only 12,000 people were charged annually.

Growing and selling the drug has turned into a million dollar affair. On one recent raid police destroyed $14,000 worth of the plants. Police confiscate about $8 million worth of dagga plants every year.

They estimate even that is just a drop in the bucket. Practically every corn patch, every small garden is suspect. Dagga growers have learned to cultivate the drug amongst rows of innocuous crops, vegetables and flowers. Police often use aircraft to try and spot dagga plants among legal crops. The plants, which often grow to a height of 14 feet, have been found growing amongst the flowers in apartment block gardens.

South Africa's first law against dagga was passed in 1923. But the stiff sentences—some offenders are sent to prison for as long as three years—have not curbed the industry.

CIGARETTES, PIPES

Dagga is mostly grown by African farm laborers and tribesmen in remote districts, but it is smoked by blacks and whites alike. In this country's major cities addicts can buy dagga from nearly every second gas jockey. Pushers roam entertainment centers after dark selling dagga in small quantities.

A matchboxful costs about 25 cents. A large reefer, or "zol," can be bought for only 10 cents.

In cities most addicts smoke dagga in cigarette form. They gather at private spots in groups for a session and pass the zol from hand to hand. In rural areas Africans put an Oriental-type pipe in the ground and cover it with grass. It is often kept going around the clock by members of the smoking club.

In Johannesburg's Hillbrow suburb, a densely populated square mile of apartment blocks, youthful addicts do their smoking in secret dives or on roofs of buildings. They are often teenagers and men and women in their early 20s. They are what police call the Twilight Kids. Most of them have a small tattoo on their cheek or hand to identify themselves to pushers of the weed.

A girl usually acts as hostess for the group. She rolls a tightly packed reefer, lights it and passes it around. And so it goes on. Doctors are sure the drug is addictive. It also affects the lungs. Smokers often cough up blood after a heavy session.

Psychologists say the drug has the effect of dulling the memory, lowering the level of consciousness and creating a twilight state. It also creates an urge for overfamiliarity and a dependent attitude. The dagga smoker often behaves like a child; he craves excessive attention. In an advanced condition an epileptic state develops.

The morning-after feeling with dagga is known to addicts as the "bring-down." Psychologists think this is often the cause of suicide. Life just seems too awful to face any longer.

Police, sociologists and social workers in South Africa are using the slogan "Dagga Kills" in their fight to prevent the rapidly spreading use of the drug. But the Twilight Kids aren't interested in the tragedy of their condition. Their attitude often is: "So I kick off—so what?"

"Political" Tag Hung On Critical Audit By Minehart

HARRISBURG (AP) — A private firm has audited the State Auditor General's Department and found a lack of what it terms "many of the practices which are generally considered to be part of good management."

The audit, made public Monday, had been ordered by Gov. Scranton at a cost of $22,500.

Auditor General Thomas Z. Minehart, reached at his home in Fort Washington, declined to comment on the findings, saying that he had not seen the audit.

"POLITICAL MOVE"

Minehart did make it clear, however, that he felt the governor's decision to call in a private auditing firm was a political move. Scranton is a Republican; Minehart a Democrat.

"... It's the governor's responsibility to audit the Department of the Auditor General," he said. "Every governor heretofore, to my knowledge, has done so."

"For some reason, Gov. Scranton elected to hire a private firm. He had prior to that audited our department with his own auditor. We had no reports from him as to whether or not he approved our operation or disapproved. We didn't know whether we got an 'A' or a failure. So for some reason, and in my opinion, entirely a political one, he elected this time to hire a private firm."

"RAISES SERIOUS DOUBT"

The audit was conducted by Adler, Faunce & Leonard, certified public accountants of Philadelphia, who issued a 67-page report.

"The administrative procedures which are employed do not insure, nor do they encourage, that the work performed by the department will be of consistently high quality," the report said, adding:

"We have, however, made sufficient audit tests to raise serious doubts as to the department's effectiveness in fulfilling its responsibilities as it interprets them, and to conclude that it is ineffective when considering the generally accepted professional concept of an 'audit'."

EXPLAINS MOVE

Scranton said in a statement that he ordered the audit "to insure an impartial, comprehensive report." He added that such an audit is authorized in both the fiscal and administrative codes. The audit was for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1964.

The auditor general supervises the state's monies and expenditures. His duties include audits of accounts of debtors and agents of the state, of departments, boards and commissions, and other agencies receiving state appropriations, and audits of warrants for disbursement.

Bad Target Marking Caused Bad Results

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U.S. Air Force said Tuesday that faulty target marking was responsible for the accidental bombing of Vietnamese government troops by U.S. Air Force jets Sunday.

Four government troops were killed and 15 wounded in the B57 strike 50 miles southeast of Saigon.

The Air Force statement said three B57s dropped four 500-pound bombs each on a forward bivouac position of government

MANY BILLS INTRODUCED AT CAPITOL

HARRISBURG (AP) — A second bill placing over 80,000 state employees under the state's unemployment compensation law is before the Senate.

It was offered Monday with bipartisan sponsorship by Majority Whip Albert R. Pechan despite the public opposition of Gov. Scranton to such a proposal.

Scranton said last week he could not favor such a bill because of the high patronage turnover in state government, with only one-half of the employees covered by Civil Service.

Three Democrats introduced a similar bill earlier in the session.

JUDGE RECALL BILL

A Scranton Administration bill empowering the state to engage in certain work with atomic energy also was placed before the Senate.

The bill would have the State Commerce Department handle the "promotion and development of atomic energy resources" in Pennsylvania.

The State Health Department would be charged with the responsibility of regulating and controlling "radiation sources."

Sen. Charles R. Weiner, D-Philadelphia, proposed to empower the State Supreme Court to temporarily recall judges for duty if they retired while still in office.

PROPOSE AMENDMENT

The retired jurists could be assigned to work in a judicial district for no longer than two weeks at any one time, and no judge could be recalled for more than 60 days per year.

No retired judge could be assigned after his elected term officially ended.

Three Republicans introduced legislation which would abolish straight party voting in Pennsylvania elections. A similar proposal was killed in committee in 1963.

A bill offered with bipartisan sponsorship would amend the state Constitution to permit county treasurers to succeed themselves.

This proposal was defeated in a constitutional referendum in 1961.

OTHER PROPOSALS

Other bills introduced would: —Raise the maximum limit of county per capita taxes from $3 to $5.

—Exempt farm vehicles from motor vehicle registration when they travel on highways only to reach a garage for repairs or another farm for an exchange of farm work.

—Permit unclaimed human bodies to be distributed to optometric colleges, as well as medical and dental schools.

—Repeal the provision which exempts National Guardsmen who served for at least nine years, or servicemen on active duty for at least nine months, from jury duty.

—Prohibit Philadelphia from levying a wage tax on non-residents.

New Trousers Hold Crease Through Many Launderings

MRS. HELEN D. TUNISON
Extension Home Economist

Trousers that hold a permanent crease after several washings are the newest product in wash-and-wear garments.

MRS. TUNISON

A new finish, applied to a fabric during finishing and cured after trousers are cut, sewed, and pressed, gives the permanent crease. The finish assures the "just pressed" look with sharp creases and no seam puckering.

In laboratory tests, trousers with the new finish were hard to distinguish from new unwashed trousers, even after 20 launderings.

Most permanent-crease trousers are made from a fabric blend of 50 percent cotton and 50 percent polyester fiber, such as Dacron, Kodol, Fortrel, or Vycron. The fabric has the softness and absorbency of cotton and the strength of the man-made polyester fiber.

FAMILY FISH DINNERS

Fish is a big catch for family meals, if you know the angles.

With the approach of the Lenten season, you can use fresh, frozen and canned fish for many tasty dishes that provide good eating and physical stamina.

In food value, fish is similar to meat. Its high protein value makes fish an excellent choice for a main dish. In addition to protein, saltwater fish is rich in iodine, a chemical essential in the prevention of goiter.

Because the flesh of fish is tender, it is easy to overcook. For top flavor, color, and texture, cook fish at a low temperature and serve it at once. Correctly cooked, fish loses its transparency and will flake easily when teased with a fork. You can serve fish in a variety of ways, such as broiled, baked, fried and in sandwiches and salads.

For delightful and interesting fish recipes, including tuna, salmon, and sardines, check your favorite cookbook.

FACE MARRIAGE PROBLEMS

Working out situations and problems before marriage may bring out hidden strengths in both the young man and the young woman. It may help them to build a deeper relationship.

Getting married doesn't mean the end of parents' interest in their daughter. It may be difficult for them to express their love without seeming to dominate or make her decisions.

Finding solutions to differences with both families before the wedding is likely to make things go more smoothly later, according to Mrs. Marguerite L. DuVall, extension family life specialist of the Pennsylvania State University. This is hard to do because the home the young bride makes will be unique, something different from her present home and from her husband-to-be's home.

Long separations can be difficult. If the husband-to-be is a salesman or in military service, he may be away for long periods of time requiring adjustments and understanding.

Sometimes problems arise if one partner has a physical handicap or a hereditary difficulty. Knowing the physical strengths and weaknesses of each other, the young people can foresee possible implications after marriage.

Fish is about 18 per cent protein.

SAWDUST ON FLOOR

It was testified that Clara Bow, the glamorous "It Girl" of the movies, lost some of her $5,000 weekly income playing kitchen poker with her household help.

Meat shops always had sawdust on the floor and the butchers wore straw cuffs. Many of the old-timers chewed tobacco as they worked.

Hatcheck girls usually got only a dime from a customer and weren't too upset if he left only a nickel.

MARK OF DISTINCTION

Most dogs lived and died without even wearing a tag, being treated by a veterinarian, having a license, or being taken to a canine beauty parlor.

You could tell how cold it was by how the icicles congealed on the full veils worn by dignified old ladies.

Your stature in a small community was partly determined by the number of times you had read the Bible all the way through.

It also was a mark of distinction if you had a worn buffalo robe to keep you warm when you went riding in a horse-drawn sleigh.

A lot of people were secretly ashamed of old furniture in their homes which is now being eagerly sought as antiques.

NATIONS AWED

The first thing a newly married couple bought was a big bright brass bedstead.

Mother wore a needle in her dress and kept thread in her pocket because she had to be ready to do emergency sewing for the kids all day long.

Everyone thought it hilarious that heavyweight boxer Gene Tunney read William Shakespeare during training for a bout. (Most of the fans who jeered him couldn't read two lines from a poem by Edgar A. Guest without moving their lips.)

The nation was awed by a report that film star Lilyan Tashman had an ermine cover for a certain fixture in her bathroom. Those were the dear old days. Remember?

The Lincoln Square Repertory Company, which presented the drama here, will help assemble the cast and participate in earnings. # Gamblers Denied Claims Of Losses

CHICAGO (AP) — Two operators of a weekly football pool lost their protest with the Internal Revenue Service when they contended the operation had been a money loser.

The Commerce Clearing House says an appeals court ruled that the IRS was right in determining the amount of income the operators derived from the pool over a three-year period by totaling the number of betting cards printed each week.

Evidence showed that the partners sold about 5,000 football wagering cards per week at prices ranging from 25 cents to $5 each, at an estimated average of $1 per card.

The IRA multiplied the number of cards by the average bet and came up with substantially more than the operators estimated.

Since the pool has operated for three years, the court was led to believe that it must have made some money.

Give New Mothers Photos Of Babies

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Even the ugliest babies are to become pin-ups at a hospital here.

To avoid any possible mix-up among new-born babies a Johannesburg gynaecologist photographs them within minutes of their birth, and hands the photograph to the mother.

"In no time at all," he said, "the mother has the new-born infant in one hand and the picture in the other. It's amazing how many mothers are frightened they may get the wrong baby."

U.S. Policy In Viet Nam War Confuses Red World And Weakens Peking's Old Charge

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Recent developments suggest that the Johnson administration's policy toward the Viet Nam war may have generated confusion in world Communist ranks and among anti-American elements in Asia.

Perhaps the Communists and rabid anti-Americans had been searching for signs of weakness in Washington and indications of backing away from danger. Instead, they see a possibility of measured extension of the war from South Viet Nam to the Communist north.

SIGNS OF CAUTION

There are signs of cautious soul-searching in that portion of the Red World which is wary of Red China's blueprint for aggressive Communist expansion by force of arms. There are signs, too, of frightened second thoughts among those in Asia who hitched their wagons to the anti-American star.

The calculated risk of U.S. policy is more or less obvious. But the avowed American intention to pin the blame where Washington says it belongs — on the Hanoi and Peking regimes — may have seriously weakened Peking's argument that the United States is a paper tiger. The tiger is ready to bite.

POLICY EVALUATED

U.S. policy was carefully spelled out in the past few days while Moscow was preparing for an international Communist meeting — now an obvious embarrassment to the Kremlin.

The administration's white paper on Viet Nam also coincided with preparations for a gathering of Communist, leftist and anti-American elements in Cambodia.

The Kremlin already had acted like an elephant trying to walk on eggs with regard to Southeast Asia. It had been accusing Peking of too dangerously belligerent a posture, of being willing to see nuclear war for the sake of advancing Red revolutions, of embracing the philosophy that revolution must rely on guns.

AVERTED SHOWDOWN

Communist leaders of the U.S.S.R. and from 18 other nations — minus the Chinese — are gathered in Moscow with little to talk about, little to do. Moscow and its followers seem to hope they won't have to do anything. They averted a showdown on the Chinese issue by canceling plans for a world meeting but probably accomplished little.

Peking propaganda reflects suspicion that Moscow cannot be trusted to shun an accommodation with Washington to avert a nuclear war danger.

Soviet and European Communists probably do not want to provoke the Chinese into actions intended to force the Kremlin's hand, hence the caution at the Moscow meeting.

CAMBODIA'S ACTIONS

The U.S. stance may have had an effect on those in Southeast Asia who beat heavily on the Communist horse. Somewhat curious are the activities of

A Lovelie! You

By MARY SUE MILLER
You miss a big beauty plus if

Cambodia's Prince Sihanouk, who had loudly voiced his abhorrence of Americans.

Evidently to the annoyance of the Communists, Sihanouk, hosting a "Conference of Indo-Chinese Peoples" in Cambodia, urged withdrawal of both Communists and Americans from South Viet Nam and supervision by an impartial commission.

The Communists oppose this. They say they never interfered in South Viet Nam. Sihanouk irritates them the more by saying if they did not interfere, they should have no objection to the formula.

This subtle change of attitude is unlikely to please the Chinese. There is a trace in it of a bow toward the Americans, as if Sihanouk suddenly had a goodly dose of fright about what might happen in Indochina and Southeast Asia.

you never use a make-up base or fail to use the right type. Properly chosen, a base has the power to improve your skin in many ways.

Every base offers a finished look for the skin, a "grip" for powder and protection against dust and harsh weather. Tinted bases enhance the skin's coloring. Special formulas provide treatment or a cover-up for problems. What one is correct for you?

Is your skin clear and unlined? Then a colorless vanishing cream or fluid base is fine for you. However, if you lack sufficient color, the recommendation is a tinted wafer or semifluid that combines base and powder.

Is your skin oily or blemished? If so, you want a tinted, medicated base. It will both treat and conceal.

Your skin is dry and prone to fine lines? The specific here is a tinted cream or fluid, containing rich oils and moisturizing properties.

Perhaps your aim is to cover veins, brown spots or freckles? For the job, choose an opaque cream or cake foundation. These are always tinted and come formulated for both the dry and oily skin.

But whatever you use, be sure to apply it in a thin film. Two light filmings give a smoother and more natural effect than a single heavy one.

Man-Made Rains Test Plane Covers

BRACKVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Man-made raindrops that strike with the muzzle velocity of a .45-caliber pistol bullet are created by scientists here to test special rubber compounds for airplane de-icers and radome covers.

Inside a 35-foot tower at The B. F. Goodrich Company Research Center, a sprinkler shows a whirling helicopter blade at a 500-mile-an-hour rate. At this speed, plane and rain collide with shattering force, strong enough to pit aluminum and stainless steel and scar plastic canopies.

Rotation of the blade duplicates rain-erosion hazards met in actual flight, and samples of materials are attached to the blade to test their resistance to the punishment of the rain. Then they are examined to determine erosion damage.

Size of the drops and severity of the man-made showers are controlled by spray nozzles. Motor and blade are installed below ground as a safety measure and tests are run by remote control.

UPPER ADAMS LIONS CLUB HAS "JAZZ LESSON"

"A Lesson in Jazz" was presented to 63 members of the Upper Adams Lions Club and their 41 guests Tuesday night at Biglerville High School.

The occasion was the annual "Sons and Daughters Night" of the Lions and the lesson was presented by the high school's dance band under direction of Richard P. Thompson, director of instrumental music for the school.

Among numbers featured by the band were "Cotton Candy" with Wayne Crum playing the trumpet, and "The Golden Horn" with David Funt presenting the trombone solo.

OUTSTANDING MUSICIANS

Donald E. Horst, chairman of the citizenship and patriotism committee for the Upper Adams Lions, introduced director Thompson and noted that the Biglerville High School's dance band consists of outstanding musicians from the school's concert band.

Preceding the musical program President Robert W. Gillelan informed the club that the zone meeting scheduled to be held March 9 at Cashtown will replace the regular meeting of the Upper Adams Lions which would have been held March 16. Arthur M. Gordon gave the invocation at the dinner. Introduced as new members were Charles Smith,

SCRANTON IS ASSAILED BY PA. DEMOCRATS

HARRISBURG (AP) — House Democrats are demanding a legislative investigation of Pennsylvania's corporate tax structure, calling Gov. Scranton the Sheriff of Nottingham, who "taxes the poor to give to the rich."

"How can the Scranton Administration justify the imposition of the highest sales tax in the country while at the same time they are actively engaged in the giving away of millions of dollars of taxpayers' money?" declared Majority Whip Herbert Fineman, D-Philadelphia.

Fineman accused the administration of refusing to fight for more than $12 million in tax claims on three major industries—The Pennsylvania Railroad, U.S. Steel Corp. and the American Tobacco Co.

SAY AUBREY QUIT CBS ON LOW RATINGS

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — James T. Aubrey Jr. quit CBS network earlier this week in the most publicized television walk-out since Jack Paar stormed off an NBC stage.

Speculation by insiders about the sudden unexplained departure of the television network's president concentrated immediately on CBS' loss of leadership in the national Nielsen ratings this season after two seasons well off front.

The ratings are projected statistics on the purported viewing habits in more than 50 million American homes gathered by electronic gadgets attached to the sets in about 1,200 homes throughout the country. These homes are chosen to represent as closely as possible the make-up of the entire population according to the most recent federal census — age, sex, family composition, income, education, geographical composition and many other factors.

CRITICS COMPLAIN

From records of what programs these families are tuned to, the A.C. Nielsen Research organization estimates the total audiences for various shows. The result is the yardstick by which networks assess the popularity of their programs. It is also widely used by sponsors and their advertising agencies to obtain some idea of the number of people exposed to sales messages on which some companies spend millions of dollars a year.

Critics complain that ratings fail to reflect the quality of programs or to show the composition of audiences.

FEW EXCEPTIONS

In spite of this, the national

Nielsen is commercial television's most important measurement tool. With few exceptions, programs with high ratings survive; those with low ratings succumb. The network that leads in the Nielsen glows happy; the also-rans fret.

Network television nervously lives by the numbers, and occasionally someone or some show dies professionally by them. In a furiously competitive business governed by fickle public taste and involving millions of dollars, there is neither time nor inclination to try riding out a bad storm.

Recommended tonight: "The Patty Duke Show," ABC, 8-8:30 (EST) — Sammy Davis Jr. turns up as guest star; "The Danny Kaye Show," CBS, 10-11 — with Imogene Coca.

Before the 19th Century, British soldiers saluted by tipping their hats, a custom dating back to Roman times when partial disrobing was considered a mark of respect.

NOTES LACK OF FUNDS FOR PA. MILK PROBE

By DAVE LEHERR
Associated Press Writer

HARRISBURG (AP)—Lack of finances threatened today to cause an even further delay in the state of a legislative investigation into alleged malpractices in the state's milk industry.

House and Senate leaders named a 12-man task force Tuesday to conduct the inquiry, but one of the cochairmen noted immediately that no provisions had been made for financing.

"We definitely will have expenses," said Sen. D. Elmer Hawbaker, R-Franklin, a dairy farmer himself, who has been named chairman of the Senate delegation on the special committee.

"We'll need at least a stenographer, an accountant and legal assistance," he declared. "We have to know what we have in the way of a budget to engage such a staff."

It is expected a bill will be introduced next week to cover these expenses. Meanwhile, leaders of the committee hope to get public hearings underway the next week or so.

Opposition in the House already has delayed the investigation by three weeks or so. A band of Western Pennsylvanians fought the Senate-proposed joint investigation in favor of an independent probe by the House with Democrats in control or an expanded committee of 20 members.

GETS COMMITTEE OKAY

Both moves were killed in caucus Monday and the resolution finally passed.

House Democrats also rushed their school bus proposal to the floor Tuesday, sticking to their target of next Tuesday for final passage.

The measure, which would provide tax-supported bus transportation for private and parochial school children over established routes was given initial approval by the House Committee on Secondary and Elementary Education.

PREDICTS PASSAGE

Rep. Thomas Lamb, D-Allegheny, committee chairman, said the vote was 14-6 with objectors representing both political parties. Lamb predicted however the measure would pass.

Backing him up was Rep. Martin P. Mullen, D-Philadelphia, one of the chief sponsors who said he had 135 votes lined up in favor of the proposal.

HAWBAKER CHAIRMAN

Named to the 12-member milk team were Sens. Hawbaker, Jack McGregor, R-Allegheny; Rowland B. Mahany, R-Crawford; Leonard Staisey, D-Allegheny; William J. Lane, D-Washington; and Justice Jiroliano, D-Northampton; and Reps. W. Brady Hetrick, D-Mifflin; Charles J. Mills, D-Westmoreland; James Musto, D-Luzerne; Harry Markovitz, R-Allegheny; Percy G. Foor, R-Bedford; and William H. Ashton, R-Chester.

The investigation stems from reports of alleged kickbacks between milk cooperatives and dealers in Western Pennsylvania.

The Scranton Administration already has started an independent probe through the state Justice Department and Milk Control Commission.

OFFER NEW BILL

In a related development, a bill was introduced in the House aimed at increasing the membership of the Milk Control Commission from three to five with at least two members representing the consumer.

The day also saw Gov. Scranton sign the first two new laws of 1965 and the first bill to be defeated in the legislature this year.

One of the new laws signed appropriates $11,250 to the Legislative Reference Bureau and the other makes technical changes in the state's insurance law.

Defeated was a proposal that would have required applicants for driver's licenses to provide their Social Security numbers. The vote was 40-158.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS

Highlights: Community College—The Senate Education Committee amended the community college bill to prohibit college boards of trustees from entering into binding agreements without prior approval of sponsoring districts. "Prior approval" was not included in the original bill.

PIDA—Senate Democrats delayed action on a plan to expand eligibility for Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority (PIDA) loans. They said the inclusion of counties with as little as 4 per cent unemployment would reduce the amount available for counties with serious Named to the team were center Jim Washington of Villanova, and guards Curt Fromal, LaSalle, Billy Oakes, St. Joseph's, and Jeff Neuman, Penn.

Ask Cancellation Of Closing Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., and Pennsylvania's 12 Republican Congressmen have asked President Johnson to cancel the order closing 11 Veterans Administration hospitals, four soldiers' homes and 17 regional Veterans Administration offices.

They said the order was ill advised, and called it "callous and wanton disregard of the nation's sick, needy and aging veterans."

Included in the planned Veterans Administration reorganization is the merger of the Wilkes-Barre regional office with the office at Philadelphia.

The resolution from the Pennsylvania Republicans said that despite the President's alleged concern for Appalachia, the closing order will eliminate 139 federal jobs in Wilkes-Barre, in the heart of Appalachia.

IN RUMOR STAGE

They join Princeton's Bill Bradley; Providence's Jim Walker; Warren Isaac, Iona; Frank Swiatek, Canisius; John Stevens, Fordham; Toby Kimball, Connecticut; and John Austin, Boston College.

SUGGEST USES FOR GAP AREA AFTER RUMORS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pennsylvania congressional steering committee, acting on rumors that the Indiantown Gap, Pa., Military Reservation may be closed, has asked the Defense Department to consider three possible uses for the camp.

The steering committee said there have been reports that the headquarters of the 21st Army Corps, with its 100 officers, 200 enlisted men and 436 civilian technicians, may be moved out of the Gap.

The Department of the Army, however, said it currently has no plans to shut down its facilities there.

IN RUMOR STAGE

Maj. Gen. Thomas R. White Jr., adjutant general of Pennsylvania, said the reports were "in the rumor stage." He said the 21st Army has denied the reports.

Rep. Richard S. Schweiker,

R-Pa., a member of the House Armed Services Committee, Tuesday asked Cyrus Vance, deputy secretary of defense, to consider these three possible uses for the installation in the event the 21st Corps headquarters is moved:

OWNED BY STATE

1. As headquarters for the National Guard Bureau which is scheduled to move from the Pentagon.

2. For use by the Army recruiting service.

3. To handle payroll records for the entire National Guard. Indiantown Gap is owned by the state and part of it is leased to the federal government.

The Pennsylvania Senate also acted on the rumors Tuesday, introducing a resolution urging Congress not to permit the shutdown, should one be initiated by the Department of the Army.

Rabbit Escapes; Hunter Injured

FORT PIERCE, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Betty Darling, 33, went gunning for a rabbit that was raiding her garden.

The bunny was unscathed but (1) Mrs. Darling's .22 caliber pistol accidentally discharged, wounding her arm, and (a) her automobile went into a ditch when she lost control while driving to a hospital adding a cut lip and bruised forehead to her injuries.

Old Order Amish Would Get Help

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Paul B. Dague, R-Pa., says members of the House Ways and Means Committee have agreed, at least informally, to include an Old Order Amish exemption in the Social Security measure the committee is now drafting.

Dague and Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., introduced bills earlier this year to provide the exemption the Old Order Amish have been seeking for almost a decade.

The Old Order Amish, many of whom live in Pennsylvania and Maryland, contend Social Security is a form of insurance which shows a lack of faith in God.

The ways and means committee has fixed mid-March as the deadline for completing work on a Social Security bill, which could include a health care plan for the aged.

The Volkswagen is the one in black.

These cars look alike to a Volkswagen mechanic. They have the same engine the same transmission, and the same chassis.

But the one on the bottom got mixed up with an Italian who thought the Volkswagen would make a sexy little runabout: Ghia of Turin.

The car's the VW Karmann Ghia.

Its special body takes so much hand work that Volkswagen farms it out to one of Europe's greatest custom coachworks, Karmann of Osnabruck. Every seam is welded, ground down, filed and sanded by hand. (It's been mistaken for everything from a Ferrari to a Lancia.)

Yet VW parts are all you need. You get the VW's legendary mileage. VW's air-cooled engine. And the famous Volkswagen traction in snow and sand.

Along with a gee-gaw or two. A defroster for the back window. Acoustical soundproofing. Adjustable bucket seats.

The price is quite a coup for a coupe like this. Hardtop, $2,295.00*. Convertible, $2,495.00*.

Hardly an arm and a leg.

TREACHERY IS YANKEE PERIL AT THE FRONT

By JOHN T. WHEELER

THE SAHN, South Viet Nam (AP) — For the U.S. Special Forces team at this isolated mountain camp near North Viet Nam, the front line begins at the barbed wire that separates it from the Vietnamese troops its members advise.

Special Forces camps have been overrun in the past, and the only Medal of Honor awarded so far in the Viet Nam war came out of such an action. A Special Forces officer said that in each case of camps being overrun, treachery inside played a key part.

Because the Special Forces recruit their own mercenary forces in the area in which they operate, each camp gets some Viet Cong guerrillas. The official figure here is about a third.

DESERTION TOO

The Communists are weeded out and shot as fast as possible but because of the high turnover in Special Forces, more keep appearing.

In the past, there also have been instances of regular government troops deserting their American advisers in the face of attack.

In Special Forces camps, teams of 12 or more Americans work with their Vietnamese counterparts to form companies of "hired guns" to combat the Viet Cong in their own backyard.

GUN POSTS MINED

A demolitions sergeant stationed in the southern part of the country noted that at one camp which was overrun, the post's machine guns were turned inside the camp when the attack came.

He proposed secretly placing electrical mines under the machine-gun emplacements at his camp. He wanted to be able to detonate the mines from inside the American command bunker in case the machine guns started firing the wrong way during an attack.

Here at Khe Sahn camp, 20 Nung tribesmen are kept inside the inner wire as bodyguards for the Americans. The Nungs are Chinese, antagonistic to nearly every other ethnic group in Viet Nam and considered completely loyal to their U.S. advisers.

MUST TRUST THEM

Asked if the question of the Nungs' loyalty sometimes bothered him, M.Sgt. Thomas Barrett, 9, of Brooklyn, N.Y., said:

"If we didn't trust them the whole team would be awake, nervous and on guard with weapons in their hands 23 hours a day. We have to trust them."

Outside the compound are the barracks of the strike force companies.

RELIEF COMES SLOWLY

In case of attack, most Special Forces cannot expect early relief, especially in the mountains. Overland routes normally are in the hands of the Viet Cong, and bad weather often bars planes or helicopters from reaching mountain camps.

Sgt. I.C. Donald E. Williams of Collinsville, Ill., recalled the death from heart attack of a comrade in another camp. Over the radio crackled a message that Seashore — the man's code name — "apparently suffered a heart attack." Twenty minutes later came, "Seashore getting worse." Finally it was, "Seashore dead."

It was four days before an aircraft was able to find a hole in the clouds and pick up the body.

Lucky Strikes Open Large Ad Campaign

A new filter cigarette with a filter tip, bearing one of the oldest and best known names in tobacco history, Lucky Strike, will begin national distribution this month, it was announced today by Robert B. Walker, president of The American Tobacco Company.

Test marketed in six cities late last summer in three flavor variations, new Lucky Strike filters with a flavor tip achieved substantially more consumer popularity than did the other flavor filter tested. As a result, it was further tested in the Louisiana, Mississippi areas, "where its sales record indicated the brand was ready for national distribution," Mr. Walker said.

With national distribution expected to be substantially complete by March, new Lucky Strike filters will have a multimillion dollar national advertising campaign throughout 1965 which includes The Gettysburg Times.

SNOW, SLEET, HAIL AND RAIN SWAT NATION

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Stormy weather, with snow, rain, hail, sleet and stiff winds, swept across broad areas in the central and Southern sections of the nation Tuesday after a brief respite from last week's severe weather.

Blizzard conditions were reported in eastern Kansas, northwestern Missouri and parts of Minnesota. Heavy snow struck eight Midwest states and New Mexico Monday, with blizzards hammering areas from western Iowa and eastern Nebraska to Kansas.

SCHOOLS CLOSE

Schools were closed, power was disrupted and many families were evacuated from their homes by flooding of rivers and streams caused by ice jams. Snow amounts in parts of Minnesota and New Mexico ranged up to 14 inches. Snow tapered off in eastern New Mexico during the night but some major highways remained closed by heavy snow.

Heavy rain hit along the Gulf Coast east of the Mississippi Delta, and a belt of showers extended from southeast sections to northern Wisconsin.

Light snow fell southward into Oklahoma from the heavy-snow belt in eastern Kansas, northwestern Missouri and parts of Minnesota. Sleet and rain pelted wide areas in the north central region.

MERCURY DROPS

Cold air moving eastward and southward from Montana and the Dakotas dropped temperatures to near freezing in northern Texas. It was below zero in Montana and near zero in the Dakotas.

The clashing of cold air from the north and warm humid air from the Gulf of Mexico set off severe storms across the Texas-Louisiana border Monday. Hail measured up to three inches at Perkins, La., and nearly 3½ inches of rain drenched Kirbyville, Tex., in a one-hour period.

Flooding was reported in parts of Minnesota, Nebraska, Iowa, Wisconsin and Missouri.

Yanks Insult Had Official Backing

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The U.S. Embassy charged Tuesday that the demonstration against the residence of Ambassador Howard P. Jones on Sunday "had the sanction and approval of responsible organs of the Indonesian government."

A protest note delivered Monday to the Indonesian Foreign Ministry said some of the 500 demonstrators invaded the residence itself and insulted the ambassador's wife.

The note said the demonstrators were brought to the ambassador's residence in official Indonesian government trucks and were reported assembling around the city for some time, therefore the police must have known about them.

Nearly 900,000 tourists visited Portugal last year.
